GRADUATED INTELLIGENCE PROCESS™

You can order and pay for only the investigation level that is practical for your needs.

We do not favor an expensive “shotgun” approach to our investigations. Graduated Intelligence Process (GIP) is a system developed by Cachet International to help tailor to your needs the intelligence that you request.

It was developed to give you the option of proceeding with specifically tailored minimum intelligence requests until we can confirm the status and “profile” of the subject.

Then, after reviewing these initial results, we can recommend to you what, if any, additional intelligence should be gathered in a follow-up inquiry, as well as which inquiries appear to be unnecessary.
